

Military Probe For Koje Facts

Clark Decides Red Pact Is Not Valid

BULLETIN
Tokyo, Thursday, May 15—(AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark today announced that the agreement between Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson and Communist prisoners of war on Koje Island "has no validity whatsoever."

Tokyo, Thursday, May 15—(AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark said today he had called the two former commanders of Koje Island prisoner of war camp to Tokyo yesterday for more factual information on the seizure last week of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd.

There was immediate speculation in Tokyo as to whether the military investigation of the Koje Island incident had been concluded.

In his morning announcement, Clark said, "until the conclusion of the investigation it is inappropriate for me to make public statements concerning it."

But in his noon announcement he referred to "the investigation made so far . . ." and made sharp comment. What caused the policy reversal was not immediately clear.

In his morning statement, Clark denied that he had reprimanded the two generals, yet Clark's noon announcement seemed a clear rebuke to Colson for exceeding authority.

Rebuke Or Reprimand

In army terminology there is an official distinction between rebuke and reprimand. A case is closed when a reprimand—verbal or written—is given. This appeared to have an important bearing on Clark's morning announcement that he had not "reprimanded" either Dodd or Colson.

Colson was relieved Tuesday as Koje commander.

Speculative press reports to the effect that General Dodd (Brig. Gen. Charles F.) Colson were verbally reprimanded by Clark at this conference are totally without foundation, the new Allied commander said in a prepared statement.

Clark said both officers now have returned to Korea. Their assignments were not given.

Agreement Under Fire

Language of the agreement Colson made with the Reds for Dodd's release is under fire in congress and the defense department in Washington.

The bold seizure of Dodd by Communist prisoners May 7 is under investigation by the Far East command.

The joint chiefs of staff in Washington demanded a full investigation when it was learned that Colson had promised the 6,000 inmates of compound 76, where Dodd was held captive, that there would be "no more forced screening of prisoners."

Communist truce negotiators quoted Colson's note in support of their charges that the Allies had mistreated prisoners of war.

Clark hinted previously his command would ignore concessions that he said were "blackmailed" from Colson. The concessions included special privileges, such as the right to communicate between compounds on the mountainous island off the southeast coast of Korea.

The Communists made their first use of Colson's statement Wednesday at Panmunjom. Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist armistice delegate, declared Colson openly admitted there has been bloodshed on Koje and promised prisoners could "expect humane treatment in the future."

The information officers at U.N. headquarters in Tokyo said that until the investigation was completed "neither officer would be available to the press."

ANY NEW IDEAS TO AID MOTHER IN SON'S EDUCATION?

Chicago, May 14—(P)—Mrs. Lawrence Ward concedes that experience is the best teacher, but she wishes her son, Dennis, would slow down his education a little.

Today Dennis learned about drains. He stuck his foot and leg in a drain tile in the ground behind a neighbor's garage. Two policemen had to work a half hour with hammers and chisels to free him.

His last thrilling episode was with a fence he thrust his head through. A helpful neighbor freed him then.

He demonstrated recently that a garden hose can be a formidable weapon. He dampened down several neighbors and cornered others against the house.

He also parked his water pistol in his 26-year-old mother's oven broiler and it became welded there when she tried to cook dinner.

How old is Dennis? He's 2.

Tobin Gives Steel Strike New Impetus

Philadelphia, May 14—(P)—CIO-Steelworkers angrily brandished the threat of a renewed strike today after setting a new Truman administration ally in Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin.

The Steelworkers Union convention shouted approval of a resolution endorsed by Union President Philip Murray warning that the workers won't stay on the job indefinitely without a pay boost.

The resolution was accompanied by a mass demonstration of delegates, swarming over the convention platform shouting, "no contract, no work" and "we shall not be moved."

The union speakers gave no indication of any date when the strike threat might mature and another industry shutdown occur.

After delegate followed delegate to the floor with bitter, hours-long warnings that "we'll hit the bricks" and "shut the steel industry down until hell freezes over," the convention unanimously adopted the resolution declaring the dispute must be "promptly resolved" or else:

"We cannot and will not continue indefinitely to work in 1952 for 1950 wages and working conditions; we cannot and will not continue indefinitely to work without satisfactory collective bargaining contracts."

Tobin, the labor cabinet member and former Massachusetts governor who had previously kept out of the steel dispute, jumped into it with both feet. He told the more than 2,500 cheering convention delegates that he "stood heart and soul and spirit" with Murray's union.

Tobin said that he remained silent while the steel industry grants all the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board for a recommended solution. But he said that after the WSB ruled and "the union has accepted its recommendations and the industry has not, I don't feel any obligation to be impartial any more."

"If the steel industry grants all the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board, if it takes $3 a ton (price) increase authorized under the Capehart amendment, and if it computes the saving that would result in its excess profits tax," Tobin said, "the actual cost to the steel industry in dollars and cents would be less than 65 cents a ton."

This is considerably different from industry estimates. Steelmakers have said they would have to increase steel prices as much as $12 a ton to pay for the WSB proposals and still retain the present rate of profits.

The convention's strike threat was made even though the steel industry is under government seizure with workers technically employed by the government and thus legally barred from any walkout. Legality of President Truman's seizure action is being contested, however, before the supreme court.

Gen. Eisenhower Has Formal Orders To Come Home

Washington, May 14—(P)—Formal orders to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to come home have been issued by the army, Pentagon officials revealed today.

They state that the five star supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces may come home in late May or early June, the exact time to be set by him.

His official assignment will be under the army chief of staff, in Washington, but he will be stationed without command in New York City. In effect, he reverts to the status he held while president of Columbia University. He was called away from that position to the NATO command in Paris.

Another five star general, Douglas MacArthur, is also stationed in New York City under similar conditions.

Reduced Rates On Phosphates Asked By RR's

Chicago, May 14—(P)—The Illinois Commerce Commission took under advisement today a petition by railroads operating within Illinois to reduce freight rates on phosphates.

The lines want to reduce rates on phosphate of sodium, di-sodium phosphate, mono-sodium phosphate and tri-sodium phosphate from 36 cents to 25 cents per hundred pounds between Joliet and the St. Louis area. The phosphates are used as detergents.

Examiner Forrest B. McElroy said eastern carriers protested the proposed reduction because rates for similar products from Fremont, Mich., to the St. Louis area are 58 cents per 100 pounds.

Eastern carriers protested before both the Illinois and Interstate Commerce Commissions, but were denied. The carriers now have decided to reduce the Fremont rate to 47 cents, which would maintain the present differential in freight costs.

Railroads operating within Illinois asked the reduction because of competition of shipping lines along the Illinois waterway. The Blockson Chemical company of Joliet ships about 1,500,000 pounds of the phosphates to the St. Louis area each year.

CORLISS ARCHER HAS SON

Hollywood, May 14—(P)—A son was born last night in Hollywood Presbyterian hospital to Mrs. Janet Waldo Lee, 23, who plays Corliss Archer in the radio series.

The baby, a boy, weighed 7 pounds 10 ounces and was 19 inches long. He was born at 10:15 p.m. and was named "Corliss."

The baby's mother, Corliss Archer, is a popular radio personality. She has been married to her husband, John, for several years.

The baby's father, John Archer, is a well-known actor. He has appeared in several movies and has been married to his wife, Corliss, for several years.

The S.S. United States A Speedy Ocean Liner

Aboard the S. S. United States, May 14—(P)—Vice Adm. E. L. Cochran, U.S. maritime administrator, predicted flatly today this new ocean liner will exceed the speed of any other passenger ship except a warship except a destroyer.

"This ship will do even better," Cochran said. "It will be the fastest ship in the world, and it will be the most comfortable ship in the world."

The 61,500-ton vessel, newest and biggest of this country's trans-oceanic vessels, left her berth this morning at the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Drydock company and headed out to sea.

Cochran said the results of tomorrow's speed trials will be kept secret for national security reasons. The ship would be converted to troop transport service in the event of war, "and we don't want an enemy to know her speed capability as the lives of 14,000 men would be involved."

Asked how quickly the ship could be converted to troop transport, Cochran said "if we were to break out today, we could start loading troops tomorrow."

J. B. Woodward, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., the ship's builders, said William Francis Gibbs, the ship's architect, had had "a big chest" this morning when the United States slipped from her James River pier and headed for sea.

The 72 million dollar liners deep bass voice spoke with authority as she returned the salute of passing ships dwarfed by her size. Her red, white and blue stacks, tallest in the world, gleamed brightly beneath a warm sun.

Patrols Return To Autobahn As Reds Lift Ban

Berlin, May 14—(P)—The Russians lifted their ban of Allied military patrols from the Berlin-Helmstedt autobahn today as suddenly as they imposed it last week.

A patrol car was permitted to pass the Soviet barrier on the Berlin end at 5:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. GMT).

Uneasy West Berlin took new heart from this development and Secretary of State Acheson's declaration in Washington about the same time that the United States is determined to maintain the position of the Western powers in this isolated city.

On the anxious seat under Communist pressures against a peace contract the Bonn republic is due to sign with the western allies late this month, the West Berlin government was jubilant at Acheson's promise in a news conference that the Allies would hold fast to protect the people here as well as in West Germany.

The Soviet ban against Allied patrolling of the 110-mile long highway linking Berlin and West Germany was imposed May 8, as the Red campaign against the peace contract heated up. The Russians gave no explanation.

But the issue of the peace contract remains. In Bonn, Allied and German officials said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has quelled a revolt within his three-party government against the terms by which West Germany will be granted near sovereignty in return for lining up defensively with the western powers.

Communist East Germany, re-arming against what it calls "a threat of civil war," has warned that the Allied sectors of Berlin will feel the consequences the day after the contract is signed.

Berliners think this means one big thing: blockade.

OVER CEILING FOR GAS CHARGED FOR GAS

Springfield, Ill., May 14—(P)—Many filling stations are selling gasoline at over-ceiling prices in central and southern Illinois, the Springfield district Office of Price Stabilization said today.

R. Garrett Phillips, in charge of district enforcement, said three-fourths of stations surveyed in a spot check were found to be in violation of one or more OPS requirements.

Other violations included failure to keep records and failure to post ceiling prices.

Phillips said that when tank wagon suppliers raised their prices one-half cent last week, they were still within ceiling price.

However, many retailing stations who did not previously lower prices one-half cent when suppliers did, passed on this raise and put their prices over ceiling, Phillips said in a statement.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

Elgin, Ill., May 14—(P)—Mrs. Edward Brubaker and Mrs. Allen Fryberger, who both were graduated from Hartsview, Ohio, high school in June, 1948, are convinced it's a small world.

After four years of going their separate ways, they found themselves in the same room of a hospital in Elgin. And both gave birth to daughters within four hours this afternoon.

The young mothers said their meeting in the Sherman hospital maternity room was the first time they'd seen each other since shortly after graduation four years ago.

Oil Strike Tension Eases After Meeting

Warns Reds 'Stand Firm In Berlin'

Washington, May 14—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson today gave notice to Russia that the western powers will stand firm in Berlin in the face of any new attempt to bring pressure on them by blockade or otherwise.

The United States, Britain and France, he said, are "determined to maintain our position in Berlin and to assist and protect the interests of the people" in the western sectors of the isolated city.

The Reds, bitterly opposed to plans to bring western Germany into the western European defense lineup, have made threatening moves recently suggesting they might be thinking of reviving the 1948-49 Berlin blockade.

Acheson's stiff comment was in response to the unexplained Soviet action in halting the movement of western military patrols along the highway linking Berlin with the western occupation zones.

Shortly after Acheson spoke news dispatches from Berlin said the Russians had lifted this seven-day-old ban. They permitted a patrol car to pass the barrier late today.

Acheson reinforced his warning by permitting his words to be quoted directly, which is fairly unusual procedure at his news conferences. He spoke directly only for the United States but added he had no reason to believe the British and French have changed in any way their attitude in resisting the 1948-49 blockade. At that time supplies were flown to the western sectors of Berlin by a giant airlift.

The U.S., Acheson said further, is urgently investigating the new Soviet action.

Acheson announced he is leaving next week for Europe to take part in ceremonies launching two treaties aimed at bringing western Germany into the European defense lineup. Regardless of bitter Communist opposition, negotiations are near completion for the new western peace contract with the Bonn government and the new six-nation European defense community treaty.

Credit Controls May Be Relaxed On Housing

Washington, May 14—(P)—Government credit controls may be relaxed soon on new houses costing more than $12,000, Housing Administrator Raymond Foley said today.

He told the annual meeting of the National Savings and Loan League that it is "quite possible" that regulation X, governing real estate credit, will be modified within the next few weeks.

Among other things, regulation X requires a down payment of at least 50 per cent on houses costing $25,000 or more.

Credit controls on automobiles, household appliances like television sets and refrigerators, furniture and other items, were suspended last week by the Reserve Board. These products came under regulation W, which fixed high down payments and limited the repayment period to 18 months.

At a meeting of the American Real Estate Federation today Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said he did not think a relaxation of credit controls will bring a rush of business to retailers because "the prices are so high."

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), in a Senate speech, called for an end to credit curbs.

The Reserve Board's suspension of controls last week, he said, was "a smart political move to hoodwink Congress into granting continued authority over the little man's pocketbook."

Credit controls will expire June 30 unless Congress renews them.

Jenner said the Reserve Board's suspension was designed to convince Congress that the board was using its power wisely—in hopes of having the power continued.

Use Of Horsemeat In Sausage Allowed By OPS Authority

Chicago, May 14—(P)—The OPS today told sausage makers they can put horse meat in their product providing it is clearly labeled as such. The American Meat Institute promptly labeled this "an open invitation to crooks and chiselers."

The Office of Price Stabilization said in Washington that effective May 19, horse meat can be mixed with other meats in sausage, as long as it is clearly marked on the product. OPS said a 2-month-old ban on horse meat in sausage was working a hardship on processors who have special machinery for making sausage containing horse meat.

In a statement, the American Meat Institute, spokesman for the packing industry, said the OPS authorization "is an open invitation to crooks and chiselers who have been prohibited by the meat inspection division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

"It is possible by analysis," the institute said, "to determine whether raw meat is horse meat, but if this should be mixed with beef in a cooked sausage product it would be impossible to detect the substitution."

Mental Illness May Be Reduced By New Diagnosis

Chicago, May 14—(P)—An army psychiatrist said today that mental illness could be reduced in the civilian population if every doctor became a "front-line psychiatrist."

Col. John M. Caldwell of the army surgeon general's office in Washington said he based his view on lessons from World War Two and the combat in Korea.

He said in a talk prepared for the 112th annual convention of the Illinois State Medical society that the civilian physician must learn to evaluate the emotional and mental factors in illness just as the military psychiatrist did in wartime.

Mental breakdowns in Korea, he said, were comparable to those of World War Two, but because of improved treatment the rate of evacuations has been cut sharply. He said:

"As a result of policy change from one largely of diagnosis and disposition to a policy of definite treatment, medical discharges today for neuropsychiatric disorders are at a rate of one to two per thousand men per year. This figure contrasts sharply with a rate of 24 in 1943, of 16 in 1945 and, in fact, is less than half the discharge rate ordinarily to be expected during peacetime."

The lesson from military experience of the efficacy of early treatment in preventing prolonged disability has significance for every physician, particularly in methods of treatment, the detection of emotional complications of illness, the effect of the doctor-patient relationship and methods of referral when help is needed."

The former labor government official told a news conference that there apparently is a swing back in the opposite direction after a certain amount of speculative movement against the British pound had caused depletion of dollar reserves during the last six months.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE NEWS CLAMP ORDER

Washington, May 14—(P)—A special Senate subcommittee was named today to investigate the effect of President Truman's controversial security order on government news.

Senator Hoey (D-N.C.) announced that the inquiry will be made under the broad authority of the Senate's permanent subcommittee on investigations which he heads.

Hoey appointed Senator Moody (D-Mich.) as chairman of the special subcommittee.

No date has been set for the start of public hearings.

On April 24, Moody, a former newspaper man, introduced a resolution calling for an investigation to determine among other things how the president's security order of last Sept. 24 is being applied, and what its effect has been on the dissemination of public information.

The president's security order authorized civilian government agencies to withhold news from the public in cases where such a step was considered necessary for security reasons.

The president's order has come under attack by newspaper and other news groups who contend it is a form of censorship.

Truman has said the order contains no element of censorship; that it is designed to protect the nation's security, and that it does not interfere with the free flow of news.

New Bread Rules Irk Sen. Douglas, Threatens Probe

Washington, May 14—(P)—New government standards for baker's bread aroused the ire tonight of Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) because they forbid a special wheat germ loaf from being sold as white bread.

Threatening to ask an investigation of the Food and Drug Administration, which announced the rules, Douglas told reporters:

"They would prevent probably the best bread in the country from being sold as white bread."

Developed at Cornell University, the bread is sponsored by the Co-operative League of the U.S.A., which protested that the new rules would hurt sales.

Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator, and boss of food and drug, said the bread is a distinct kind, different from white bread, and that to label it white would confuse consumers. Douglas said the Cornell process keeps the wheat germ in flour without rancidity, and that the bread also contains soybean meal.

Generally speaking the new rules decree what ingredients can go into five leading kinds of bread—white, enriched, milk, raisin and whole wheat—if the loaves are to be sold under those labels. Other kinds of bread can be sold, of course, but must show all ingredients on their labels.

The strike, which started April 30, has meant oil and gas shortages as far away as Great Britain and major dislocations to motorists in this country. Only yesterday Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman set up an organizational framework to channel petroleum "to essential uses in the interest of national defense" and to alleviate spot gasoline shortages.

TOW BOAT EXPLODES AND BURNS

New Boston, Ill., May 14—(P)—The tow boat Jack Don exploded and burned today in the Mississippi river near New Boston.

All 12 crew members were transferred to another tow boat, the Delta Cities, and were put ashore at nearby Muscatine, Ia. No injuries were reported.

The explosion was reported to have occurred in the motor crank case. Fire followed and spread rapidly.

TOUGH GERMAN PROBLEM

American diplomats have tried hard to bring West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization this month so that the machinery of the military alliance may be approved definitely before European parliaments and the U. S. Congress adjourn. But the coal-rich Saar Valley has just about upset the appcart.

West Germany reiterates it will not go along if the French persist in trying to detach the Saar from Germany permanently. France stubbornly resists all efforts to change the status of the Saar, now temporarily a separate political unit linked with France. Its permanent status is to be determined in negotiations for a German peace treaty.

The West Germans are agreeable to being saved from the Russians, but they are lukewarm to the idea of contributing army strength to the common defense. And they seem definitely determined to save the Saar from the wreckage of the last war.

Two years ago France won a 50-year lease on the Saar mines, subject to peace treaty confirmation. West Germany protests that this agreement and any hint that the Saar will be awarded to France sets German opinion boiling. The Germans want a plebiscite. Residents in the Saar voted overwhelmingly for reunion with Germany in a plebiscite in 1935.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is leaving and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway arriving at a time when West Europe is up in the air. Russia has tossed a phony promise of a reunited Germany into the boiling pot and American leadership faces hard decisions in trying to preserve a free Europe.

Boyle's Column

"LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD"

Ablene, Kan.—(P)—This celebrated old town is looking forward with somewhat worried pride to the return next month of one of the local boys who made good.

He used to work at the creamery here, where other employees taught him how to shoot craps. But Ablene, a town of about 2,000 population, is expecting 50,000 to 100,000 visitors to help welcome back its favorite son—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Residents here aren't sure whether the event will tear the town apart. But it is no secret that most hope it will springboard "Ike" into a Republican presidential nomination. The biggest disaster that could happen hereabouts right now would be for a baby boy to be born with an "I like Taft" button in his tummy.

During the two-day homecoming celebration starting June 4 Gen. Eisenhower will lay the cornerstone for a museum to house his war trophies, address a throng in Eisenhower park, give a press conference and review a mammoth parade containing 36 floats symbolizing his career.

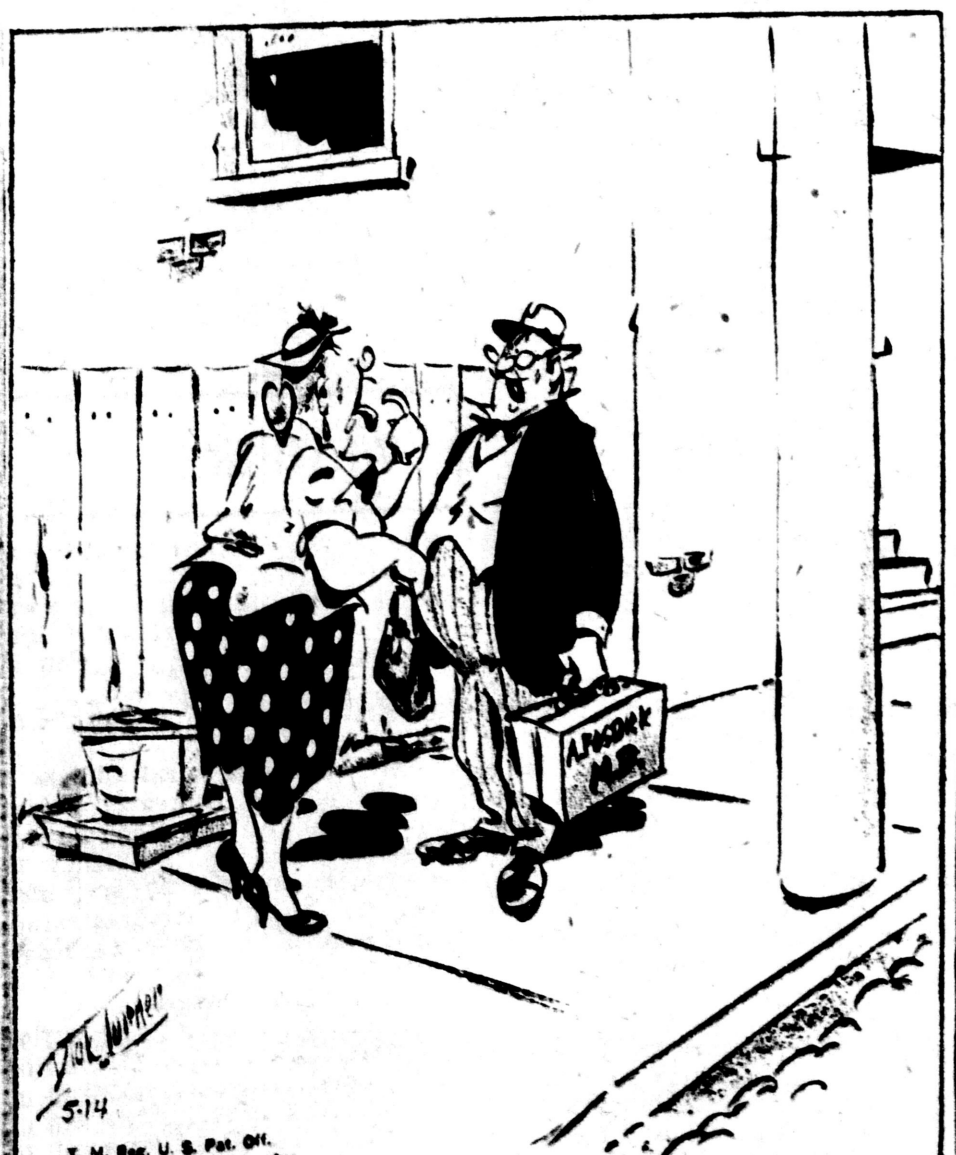

Summarizing home town sentiment for Eisenhower, Charles M. Halper, 39-year-old publisher of the Abilene Reflector-Chronicle said: "If you want to know how the people here feel about Ike go out on the street and call him a bad name—and see how quick something happens to you."

Above the main street floats a giant sign saying: "Eisenhower for president."

Despite the sign, Henry B. Jameson, one of the committee members in charge of the Eisenhower celebration, said that "his welcome home is not set up on a political basis. We have Democrats on the committee."

The planners are expecting at least ten state governors for the festivities. Some 700 peace officers

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Hollywood—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: A mystery woman claiming to be Marilyn Monroe's mother showed up at the Fox studio and legal lights investigated her story. Dates and places, say the lawyers, don't coincide but there may be legal fireworks. Marilyn's real mother, unable to provide for her after the death of her father in an auto accident, turned her over to an orphanage when she was a tiny tot and disappeared into thin air.

Doris Day and Gordon MacRae will co-star in a 1920s background film at Warner Brothers titled "By the Light of the Silvery Moon." Cameras start rolling late this summer.

Now it can be told. Television's Sid Caesar missed out on movie stardom when Columbia decided to team newcomer Aldo Ray with Judy Holiday in "The Marrying Kind." Garson Kanin wrote the screen play with Caesar in mind, however, and fought for him as Judy's co-star to the last ditch.

There was an ironic twist that escaped mention when Clark Gable and Lady Ashley were divorced. On the same day Jill, the widow of movie press agent Otto Winkler, won a divorce from her second husband. Winkler, who was Gable's press agent at the time, and Carole Lombard died together in that Nevada plane crash.

Ty Power and Fox are at odds on that one-year contract. Ty wants a Fort Knox figure. The studio, on an economy binge, wants him at a lesser figure.

FATAL SWITCH

It's an eyebrow raiser—the strangest movie casting switch in film history. A British murder mystery film, "The Clouded Yellow," is playing U. S. movie theaters. Barry Jones, a kindly old character actor, turns up as the surprise murdered although Jean Simmons is the logical suspect.

What audiences don't know is this: In the original script Jean was the murderer and for the first half of the picture played her role as such. But with the film half completed, Producer J. Arthur Rank re-wrote the plot and made Jones the killer instead of Jean.

MGM is plotting a film musical titled, "International Revue," for shooting in London. Revue acts from all over Europe will be starred. . . . Keeffe Brasseur, who will play Eddie Cantor in "The Long Story," will wear brown contact lenses throughout the film to match Eddie's eyes. His own peepers are blue.

Make-up trick of the year: Making Lana Turner look boyish for her role in "Tribute to a Badman." Mario Lanza, who weighed 275 pounds when he checked out of the army, is now down to 157. . . . Angela Lansbury may be Ty Power's leading lady when he goes on tour of the U. S. in "John Brown's Body."

BERGEN WARMING UP

Edgar Bergen will make a 30-city tour this summer breaking in new material for use on television in the fall. . . . Marilyn Maxwell and Rock Hudson have reached the five-nights a week stage. . . . George Montgomery is sinking some of his own dough in "Red Blizard," which he'll film in Montana.

Judy Canova's confession: "My mother told me so much about the birds and the bees that I had a terrible time getting interested in men."

Oleg Cassini won't be designing any more gowns at Fox now that Gene Tierney has decided that she can live without him. She's notified the studio to ignore the clause in her contract stipulating that her glad rags can't be whipped up by any other designer.

June Haver, still in ill health, gets her way about the dances in "The Girl Next Door." The routines will be simple instead of back-breakingly elaborate.

The MATURE PARENT Be Sure of Yourself First To Win Right to Own Life

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

"My mother depended almost entirely upon spanking to express herself to her children," writes a reader. "Disagree with her—and you were switched. Now, since she has become a grandmother, she is changed. Instead of being severe toward my children, she is overindulgent. She tells me 'Fussy' because I don't want my little boy to be given candy before meals. She argues with everything I do."

Of course she argues. But this daughter shouldn't delude herself that her mother has "changed" since she became a grandmother. My reader's problem is a relationship with an habitually domineering person whose interference with her grandchildren's training is just another aspect of aggressiveness.

We do not pull free in one afternoon of a parent to whom we have submitted all our lives. This daughter's difficulty is not in convincing her mother about candy before meals. It is in winning acceptance of her own right to independence.

It is most important that she appreciate the real nature of the war so she won't become discouraged when she is defeated in a skirmish or two.

"What can I say to my mother to make her understand I want to live my own life?" this reader asks.

I would suggest that instead of planning speeches to put her mother clear, this young woman give all her extra time to getting herself clear on what she feels and thinks. The clearer we are on a point of view ourselves, the clearer we are able to make it appear to others.

Very often, when we are absolutely sure we are entitled to make our own decisions, good or bad, without interference by others, we find that we do not have to defend this right at all. Others will have already granted it to us.

Anger at her mother is probably my reader's biggest difficulty. If we have had parents who, through self-ignorance, have trained us in self-distrust, we are apt to find ourselves very angry with them as we pull free of their influence. This daughter may find herself losing her temper too easily, feeling exaggerated impatience with the parent whom she believes has treated her unfairly.

She can get over all this faster by thinking as often as she can of her own motherhood, instead of her parents. It is not impossible that as the days go by she will begin to see how her own repressed experience can enrich her children.

As she gains more and more strength to be herself, she will find herself more and more interested in helping her babies be themselves, until the day comes when she can actually feel gratitude for the lesson she has learned.

It will be this reader's difficulties that make her a good daughter, as well as a good mother. We are neither good mothers when we play victim to children's tyranny, nor good daughters when we play victim to a mother's tyranny.

enlarged veins. These are likely to arise suddenly with severe pain. They are usually absorbed in a week or so though the clot can be shelled out by surgery.

SURGERY BEST TREATMENT Mrs. O. asks about treatment with the electric needle. This method is favored by some, but in general, the best treatment for hemorrhoids is to cut them out. This involves an operation which can be performed with either local or general anesthesia. There has been much improvement in the methods of treatment and aftercare in recent years, so that usually convalescence is more rapid and the pain is less severe following this operation than was formerly the case.

There is some danger that piles will come back after operation—that is, new ones develop—unless the causes which originally produced the condition are also corrected. There is much concern about whether piles, or hemorrhoids, lead to cancer. Fortunately, though hemorrhoids cause a lot of discomfort, they do not increase the chances of developing cancer.

'Shut Up, Walk Out, Cool Off,' Is Rule to Nix Family Brawls

A Connecticut judge's advice to a squabbling couple aimed at cutting down on future fights was: "Shut up, walk out and cool off."

Though brief, that's a good formula for married couples to follow. Shut up before you say something you can't take back and that may be dragged up in future quarrels. Shut up before you start making threats. Shut up before you show the worst side of your nature to the person you've agreed to live with for the rest of your life.

But don't shut up in a sulky, brooding silence. Just keep still and go on about your business as matter-of-factly as possible.

WALK OUT CALMLY AND QUIETLY And as for that "walk out" aimed at the husband. Don't slam the door behind you. Don't make any loudly remark, such as you "don't know when you'll be back." Don't head for the nearest tavern to show the little woman a thing or two.

Walk out calmly and quietly. Announce what you're going to do—not as a threat but as an explanation. You might even bring yourself to say as you leave: "We'd better wait to discuss this until we've both cooled off a little."

Then stay away until you have cooled off. Until you can see both sides of the argument and laugh a little at how upset you both were. Then head for home without a chip on your shoulder. If a husband and wife can learn to use that formula they can keep their arguments from becoming family brawls.

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 14—(P)—Fires are building in Germany. Here's how they were started:

The Big Four—United States, Russia, Britain, France—divided Germany into four occupation zones at war's end. The struggle for Germany between Russia and the west began.

Years passed. No hope in sight for peace treaty with United Germany. Russians set up puppet-government, Communist-controlled in East Germany. Western Allies let West Germany have own government, headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The occupying forces stayed but the Allies allowed Adenauer's government much freedom. The western allies formed the Atlantic defense pact. This meant building an army. European partners in the pact were France, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Italy.

The West Germans were offered a deal: 1. A contractual agreement. Fancy name for what in effect would be a peace treaty with West Germany, linking it with the west. Adenauer was for it.

2. West Germany was asked to contribute troops for the European army. Its troops would be part of the European army, not a new German war machine.

The Russians were losing West Germany to the Allies. So they offered this deal:

(1) Germany should be unified; (2) The Big Four should finally sign that long-delayed peace treaty; (3) Germans should be allowed to re-arm and make their own weapons; (4) new, unified Germany couldn't make any military alliances.

The purpose was clear: By appealing to the old German Nationalism and giving the West Germans a vision of a new Germany, the Russians hoped to split them from the west and wreck the European army. Once the Allies were out of the new Germany, German Communists could work to take over the government from within.

But the Russian proposal put the Allies on the spot. The Russians would look like heroes to the Germans, the allies like villains, if the latter turned down the tricky Russian offer cold.

1. Before the Russian idea of unifying all Germany can be carried out, the allies insist, all Germans must be able to vote for a new government in free elections. They don't want Communist-rigged elections in East Germany. The Allies said no treaty talks start before a new and united German government can take part.

No. 3. The Allies took a dim view of Russia's plan to let all Germany re-arm.

No. 4. The Allies rejected the Russian suggestion that a United Germany be forbidden to make military alliances.

Communists in Germany rioted this week over the contractual agreement, which may soon be signed, and threatened reprisals. Moscow's press warned Adenauer's government against signing.

Employers' Comments Affirm Will to Break Union Shop Issue

Washington—(NEA)—Leading U. S. employers like the railroads, the steel industry, General Electric, Boeing and Douglas aircraft companies, are now on record that they will resist to the end all efforts by organized labor leaders to impose the union shop on their collective bargaining agreements.

The Boeing company went through a similar experience. In March the company signed a new contract with the union which covered all wage and working conditions, except the union shop. On that issue the contract says: "In event of failure to reach agreement on union security, the union may terminate the agreement by taking strike action."

Bureau of Labor Statistics recently made a study of 2651 collective bargaining agreements, which were considered to be a fairly good cross section of manufacturing and non-manufacturing industries, to try to get some idea of just how many union shop contracts exist.

About five million workers were covered by the sample contracts studied. The result showed that close to three-fifths of the workers, under 1616 of the 2651 contracts studied, worked under union shop agreements. The study also showed that union shop agreements have steadily increased since 1949.

The railway employees' demand for a union shop contract is the oldest case in the present controversy. In February, 1951, 17 non-operating brotherhoods asked the carriers for a uniform union shop agreement. Fifteen months later, this matter is still pending. Settlement of wage and other working conditions might have been effected some months ago if it were not for the union shop issue.

CARRIERS OPPOSED COMPANY-SUPPORTED UNIONS The position of the employers is summarized in a brief filed by Washington lawyer Donald R. Richberg of their staff of counsel. "These carriers," he says, "are opposed to any effort to establish company-maintained or supported unions, even when this aid is desired by the currently designated representatives of their employees."

First of the Wage Stabilization Board recommendations for a union shop came in the Douglas Aircraft, Long Beach, Calif., and the Boeing Wichita, Kan., cases. The CIO United Auto Workers is the union involved in both plans.

Last October Douglas had a 7-week strike. Then the case was referred to Wage Stabilization Board. In April after all the other wage and fringe issues had been settled, President Donald W. Douglas sent a telegram to all members of Congress. It closed with this paragraph: "The company has told the union, its employees and the public that it has no intention of ever voluntarily granting the union shop, and any so-called recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board do not change our position."

"We have a union shop in the coal mines which John Steelman (the assistant to President Truman) slammed down our throats after the government seized. What experience I have had with the union shop in the coal mines does not lead me to want to see it instituted anywhere else. . . . If there is a single man working for us who does not want to join the union, the whole power of the American government should be thrown around protecting him in that right."

G. E. management has come to the conclusion that many of its highly skilled employees are fed up with inter-union warfare. Says Le-muel E. Boulware, vice president in charge of employee relations: "General Electric has long been on record as opposed to all forms of compulsory union membership. The company has bargained often and long with various unions on this matter. But it has never heard any reason or argument advanced which would persuade the company to force G. E. employees to join a union."

While these typical statements do not cover the entire industrial front, they give a good indication of how determined a few of the bigger employers are to beat down this union shop issue today.

EAT WELL for Less

Use Eggs and Broilers in May

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Market Editor
To get protein in your family meals and to keep headaches out of your budget, use eggs and broilers frequently. They are both listed as very abundant on the Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for this month.

There's a lot of vitamin C around, too. The same list includes oranges, grapefruit, and canned and frozen orange and grapefruit juice.

Other foods abundant now, beside fresh locally grown vegetables, include dairy products, fish, fresh and frozen, peanut butter, cooking fats and salad oils.

Lamb is not on the list. But if you want variety, then this recipe will please you. It is very easy to prepare and should appeal to campers.

Quick Lamb Curry
(4 servings)
One and one-half pounds shoulder lamb, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 1 tablespoon fat, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 cup seedless raisins, 8-ounce can small white onions, No. 2 can tiny peeled potatoes, drained, 8-ounce can diced carrots, 2 tablespoons cornstarch.

Cut lamb from bones, discarding fat and gristle. Cut lamb in 1-inch cubes. Sprinkle pieces of meat in a bowl. Sprinkle with kitchen bouquet. Stir meat to coat pieces evenly. Melt fat in saucepan. Add lamb and brown well over moderate heat. Add water, salt and curry powder. Cover and bring to boil. Cook until meat is tender, about 15 minutes. Add raisins, contents of can of onions and the potatoes. Drain and add the carrots, reserving carrot broth. Heat thoroughly, about 10 minutes longer. Blend together cornstarch and carrot liquid. Add to curry mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until the sauce thickens. Serve immediately.

TOMORROW'S MENU
Breakfast: Orange juice, read-to-eat cereal, Bacon rolls, tart jelly, coffee, milk.
Luncheon: Creamed hard-cooked eggs, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, fresh fruit cup, cookies, tea, milk.
Dinner: Quick lamb curry, chopped salted peanuts, steamed rice, broiled tomato halves, mixed green salad, French dressing, half grapefruit with strawberries in center, coffee, milk.

Scout Heads Meet, Formulate Plans For Camporee Here

Monday night at the Congregational church scout leaders from the Honest Abe district, Boy Scouts of America, met to prepare for the scout camporee which is to be held this weekend at the scout cabin on the lake. Plans were laid for an adventure hike Saturday to test skills in scout craft. They will start at the scout cabin in patrols with a compass course to follow, and as they proceed they will be required to demonstrate skills learned during the winter. Among these will be rope work, first aid, measuring, signalling, axemanship and fire building.

The cub leaders also met at the same place in another room under the leadership of Harold Hembrough. The theme of the cub program for the coming month is to be Indian lore. Den mothers and other pack leaders who were present were told by Hembrough the skills and "know-how" which will enable them to lead the Cubs in their new project.

The next cub meeting is scheduled for June 9.

During May on Wednesdays from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Centenary Methodist church will be held a den mothers' training course. The course is designed for den mothers' training. The program for this week is to be on the cub achievement plan and is under the direction of Thomas Walker, scout executive for this area.

The Emporium has come a long way since 1919.

When I purchased the Emporium in 1919, it was then a store dealing in cheaper fashions and had been operated as such for over twenty years. Being a quality merchant, I instituted a program many years ago whereby nothing but quality and nationally known fashions were carried. It used to be that when a Jacksonville woman wanted something really nice, exclusive and out of the ordinary, she had to go to a larger city. Today, women from larger cities shop in Jacksonville and the Emporium.

One of the contributing factors in the rapid and consistent growth of the Emporium was my policy "to see how much I could GIVE rather than how much I could get."

Speaking for my associates as well as myself I want to express our sincere appreciation to our many friends and patrons who have made this rapid growth possible.

BEARS EAT PUDDING

Denver —(AP)—Supt. Clyde Hill says the bears at the Denver Zoo have been staying healthy and happy for 50 years on a pudding invented by his father.

The late Alfred Hill, zoo director before his son, noticed along about 1900 that the bears often seemed to become doped and even showed symptoms of the blind staggers. Hill figured maybe their diet was wrong and thought up his pudding.

These were the original ingredients: Bran, corn chop (a coarse form of corn meal), grease, water and salt. The pudding was baked and served with skimmed milk.

Later grease was subtracted from the pudding and the milk was stopped. Hill also stopped baking his bear pudding, simply rolling the mix into balls moistened with water. The bears loved it. They still do.

N. W. CORNER SQUARE

Tomatoes, Staked and Pruned, Give Largest Yield Per Square Foot of Any Garden Vegetable.

Records Prove Food Yield Liberty Garden Can Give

As a guide of what to expect in food production from a Liberty garden, A. A. Wayne of Chicago, Ill., has released carefully kept statistics which he recorded in a Victory garden which he cultivated from 1943 to 1948 inclusive.

Average weight of vegetables produced on 1 square foot of garden space ranged from .96 of a pound in 1945 to 2.03 pounds in 1948. Yield varied with the number of days between the last killing frost in spring and the first freeze in the fall, which in 1945 was 127 days and in 1948, 191 days.

The average yield over six years was 1.66 pounds, but it is apparent that Mr. Wayne was a skilled and careful gardener.

Heaviest yielding vegetable was a large fruited tomato which gave an average yield of 5.88 pounds per square foot. The plants were staked. Beets were second in yield, with an average of 3 pounds. Carrots were next with 1.87 pounds. Bush snap beans gave .87 pound per square foot. Golden Bantam sweet corn 1.01 pound, and peas the last of all .31 pound.

These figures establish as a reasonable estimate the one made by the late H. W. Hochbaum of the U.S.D.A., that a home vegetable garden should produce a pound of vegetables for each square foot cultivated.

It is interesting to note the effect upon yield which is exerted by the length of the growing season. In 1945 there were only 127 frost free days in the Chicago area, as compared with 215 such days in 1946. The yields per square foot of vegetables grown in these two years compared as follows:

	1945	1946
	127 days	215 days
	Lbs. per sq. ft.	Lbs. per sq. ft.
Green Snap Beans	.60	.80
Beets	1.50	2.30
Carrots	1.22	1.20
Sweet Corn	.80	.80
Peas	.21	.21
Tomatoes	2.90	6.90

The efficiency of tomatoes grown on stakes is also proved by Mr. Wayne's figures. Where plants are allowed to spread over the ground, and yield per square foot would be much less; but Mr. Wayne's staked plants gave him the heaviest yield for the space occupied of any vegetables that he grew.

The yield of sweet corn exceeded that of snap beans, even when the small eared luxury variety Golden Bantam was grown. This result may surprise some of the experts, though comparison is not on an even basis, since the whole ears were weighed, while only the kernels are eaten.

When the cost of vegetables in the market is compared with the yield possible in the average home garden, the value of a Liberty garden as a means of reducing the food budget may easily be calculated.

Buy A Poppy On May 17 To Help Hospital Vets

Mrs. Audra Livengood, hospital chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary for vets at the state hospital and Mrs. Elizabeth Doolin for Norbury's feel the public should know more facts concerning the annual Legion Poppy Day which will be observed in Jacksonville Saturday, May 17.

The money received from the sale of these small familiar red flowers goes into a general fund for rehabilitation work for all veterans in 28 hospitals in the State of Illinois. The entire 20th district and part of the 21st support the Jacksonville State hospital.

Hospitalized veterans make the poppies from material furnished by the American Legion, who in turn pays the veterans for their labor. The Legion is able to pay for the work from money the auxiliary pays to the Legion for the poppies, which is 5¢ cents for each Poppy. These same Poppies must be sold at a profit by the Auxiliary to create the rehabilitation fund which services an eight point program.

The rehabilitation program includes: the treasure chest includes cigarettes, craft work aid and prizes for a Fine Arts Exhibit annually shown in Chicago; Canteen books for veterans, those unable to obtain personal funds for purchases at the canteen, credit books are allotted each month; insulin, patients unable to pay for this expensive medical care may make application for this help; vaponefrin, veterans suffering from asthma and needing a vaporizer and medication may make use of the offer; a new and needed project, a children's nursery at Downey hospital where children of veteran's may be cared for while relatives visit the veteran patient; Christmas gift shops, gifts up to $2 value for veterans to send relatives (close) when unable to purchase otherwise; all hospital veterans receive a gift each Easter; hospital fund, parties and entertainment with refreshments are provided.

The Auxiliary Department of Illinois provides monthly parties for all who have birthdays, the rotation caring for all within the year. Each month at party time a dining room treat is also provided for each of the 815 veterans at the Jacksonville State hospital whether included in the birthday party or not.

Poppies will cost the individual little in comparison to the many wonderful projects of the American Legion and Auxiliary that the organizations will provide throughout the year. Think before you turn down the offer to 'buy a Poppy.'

MRS. FAUGUST HAS CALL FROM TOKYO FOR MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day greetings came over land and sea to Mrs. G. A. Faugust of 1838 South Clay Avenue. Her daughter, Mrs. William Massengale of Tokyo, Japan called and talked four minutes.

Mrs. Faugust had been informed of the intended call for Mother's Day but due to difficulty with connections she received the message at 1:40 a.m. Monday, which was five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day in Tokyo.

Mrs. Massengale, who is the former Mildred Faugust of Jacksonville, has been living in Japan since November of 1951. Her husband, Lt. Col. William Massengale is stationed in Tokyo with the army. The call was clear and both parties enjoyed an uninterrupted conversation despite the distance between the two. The Massengales' four year old son, Mark, who attends a U. S. government school in Tokyo, talked to his grandmother and spoke a number of words in Japanese that he has learned. Mrs. Massengale feels there is a possibility of the family's return to the states in 1953.

Authentic Stage Props Found For College Drama

In harmony with the setting for the play, "The Heiress" to be given Thursday and Friday evening at MacMurray College's Little Theatre, will be a picture of Matthew Stacy, mayor of Jacksonville in the mid 1800's and also treasurer and later president of the Board of Trustees at MacMurray College.

The choice was entirely by accident. Stage assistants were obtaining large gold framed pictures, which would be suitable for the period of 1850, the era the play is taken from, and chose two pictures of venerable looking gentlemen.

After the pictures were hung Dr. Walter Hendrickson asked the play's director, Dr. Ray Holcombe, who the man was in one of the portraits. The gentleman in the picture in question looked familiar to Dr. Hendrickson and he pursued the matter and found the subject to be Matthew Stacy.

Another historical item came to light when delving for proper costumes among the stage properties belonging to the College. Found in a pocket of a jacket of a dress was a bill from the old Poffenberger's Dry Goods and Notions store located on the east side of the square where the Wargis Waigreen drug store now stands. The bill was dated May 10, 1890 and listed items priced: hose, 50 cents; corset, $1.00; two shirts, $1.50 and shoes $2.00.

The performance is open to the public at popular prices and will be presented at 8:15 p.m. May 15 and 16 at the College Little Theatre on East Court street.

dent. Stage assistants were obtaining large gold framed pictures, which would be suitable for the period of 1850, the era the play is taken from, and chose two pictures of venerable looking gentlemen.

After the pictures were hung Dr. Walter Hendrickson asked the play's director, Dr. Ray Holcombe, who the man was in one of the portraits. The gentleman in the picture in question looked familiar to Dr. Hendrickson and he pursued the matter and found the subject to be Matthew Stacy.

Another historical item came to light when delving for proper costumes among the stage properties belonging to the College. Found in a pocket of a jacket of a dress was a bill from the old Poffenberger's Dry Goods and Notions store located on the east side of the square where the Wargis Waigreen drug store now stands. The bill was dated May 10, 1890 and listed items priced: hose, 50 cents; corset, $1.00; two shirts, $1.50 and shoes $2.00.

The performance is open to the public at popular prices and will be presented at 8:15 p.m. May 15 and 16 at the College Little Theatre on East Court street.

Alias Basil Willing

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, private detective, is pictured here. He had a narrow escape as Basil Willing. On the same night aged and blind Miss Katherine Shaw, who apparently was to meet Duggan at the home of Dr. Zimmer, a psychiatrist, also died. Dr. Zimmer, nephew of Miss Shaw, and Charlotte Duggan, her secretary, cannot shed light on the woman's death or her connection with Duggan. However, Katherine Lawrence insists that Basil is discussing the case with her father, Stephen Lawrence. Later Basil and some others came to Dr. Zimmer's home. Basil and his wife Isolde were also at Zimmer's. After talking to Basil, Isolde, Basil's wife, leaves the room. Basil is then, as it something had fallen to the floor.

THE rushed hush of something falling softly drew Basil toward an opening that led into a corridor. Here at last were old-fashioned doors—three of them, all standing ajar. But only one was edged with light.

The light came from a panel of frosted glass in the wall. The vast, peach-colored bed had a headboard of quilted satin. Sprawling crosswise, as if she had been thrown there, lay Isolde, face down. One arm hung over the edge, fingers nearly touching the floor.

Basil was hurrying toward her when he saw a box beside her. The box was empty, its lid on the floor, and there was something else on the floor, just beyond Isolde's fingertips, as if she had been holding it when she collapsed.

He had read of such things in books of criminology. In the books they were usually described as crude. This one had been carefully, lovingly made. It was the size of a small doll, but it was the image of a man, neatly dressed in a miniature suit of brown tweed, a dark red tie and shoes that were a tolerable imitation of a man's shoes though made of felt instead of leather. There was even hair on the head—dark hair, human hair.

Basil touched the grayish-white face and found what he expected

From two to five tons of agricultural limestone may be used per acre on clay soil to give it a granular structure. This makes the soil easier to work, and allows air to penetrate more readily. As much organic material as possible should also be used.

Animal manures are low in phosphorus. When they are depended upon superphosphate should be added at the rate of 100 pounds per ton of stable manure, or for each half ton of poultry manure.

Radio Car? Two-way radio just like a cop's car. Stephen Lawrence says you want to see me about her case.

"It was Mr. Lawrence's idea that I see you," answered Basil. "Dr. Zimmer is consulting me about her case."

"Her case?" Lloyd echoed the words sourly. "Perdita is as healthy as you or I. She's simply worried about her father. He's dying by inches and she knows it. No wonder she lives in a state of anxiety. But her father was a fool to send her to Zimmer. He's cost her all of the few thousands she inherited from her mother."

"I haven't examined her yet. But I know the symptoms of shock or strain can be confused with symptoms of neuritis. Is she laboring under any shock or strain now?" Aside from her father's illness?

Lloyd frowned. "I have a feeling there is something—but I don't know what it is."

"Are you engaged to her?"

LLOYD'S mouth twisted in a pained smile. "I'm not in any position to marry. I live in one room and take my meals at cafeterias." His eyes narrowed. "I've never even told her that I love her."

"Why not?"

"It wouldn't be fair to her. We can't marry for years. Suppose some other man comes along who can marry her now? It would be monstrous if I'd involved her emotions so that she didn't feel free."

"If you don't love her, you're entirely right. But if you do love her, you're making a mistake. And if she loves you already, it is a cruel mistake."

Lloyd's fair skin flushed easily. "What business is it of yours?"

"My business at the moment is curing Perdita Lawrence if she needs curing."

Lloyd's anger died as suddenly as it had flared, but his face was still flushed. "I'm sure her father knows I love her. She must know it, too. Why put it into words when words are all I can give her?"

Basil sighed. "Words are consoling. Perdita may be in trouble."

ISD Nine Scores 12-1 Win Over Arenzville

Fastest Car May Not Get Pole At Indianapolis

Indianapolis, May 14.—(P)—The fastest car in the field may not win the pole position for the annual 500-mile auto race at Indianapolis motor speedway May 30.

That's not an uncommon situation, due to the qualifying system for the $200,000 race.

The pole, the inside position on the front three-car row, is earned by the fastest car on the first day of the time trials—Saturday, this week. It could be eliminated if 33 cars qualified at higher speeds on later trial days, but that has never happened.

Any car that makes the 10-mile qualifying run faster than 115 miles an hour is placed in the lineup until the 33 starting positions are filled. Then "bumping" starts.

It works like this:

If 10 cars qualify on the first day of the trials, they hold the first 10 positions in the order of their speed. If 10 qualify the second day, they take the next 10 positions in order, regardless of how their speeds compare with the first-day qualifiers.

Supposing five positions remained open on the last day of the trials. The first five qualifiers that day would move into the lineup in order. The next car that beat the qualifying time of a previous qualifier would bump the slower car out of the lineup, although the latter may have qualified on the first day.

Here's where the usual confusion sets in. The "bumper" doesn't take over the "bumper's" spot in the lineup. Everybody moves up one position and the bumper merely takes his relative position among cars qualified on the day he runs.

It could be that the last two or three rows are the fastest in the field.

Why don't all the drivers go after the pole position on opening day, with the prestige and prizes that go with it? Because they, mechanics and owners never are satisfied with a car's performance. A big proportion usually believes a couple more days' work will make their autos a few miles an hour faster.

Browns Club Athletics 12-7, Satch Is Star

St. Louis, May 14.—(P)—The St. Louis Browns, who had gone without an earned run in three successive defeats, collected 16 hits off four Philadelphia pitchers to beat the Athletics, 12-7, tonight. A six-run spurge in the fourth inning put the Browns ahead and they stayed in front as ancient Satchel Paige starred in relief.

The victory squared the series at one game apiece and enabled the Browns to remain in a tie for fourth place with the Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees.

Respectable Clint Courtney, Browns' catcher, and Marty Marion shared the hitting honors on a slugger's night that saw 26 hits by the two clubs. Both collected two singles and a double. Rookie Jim Rivera broke out of a slump to drive in three runs on a long double and fly ball. He also walked three times.

Southpaw Gene Bearden, a stand-out with the Cleveland Indians in their 1948 world championship year, started his first game for the Browns and did right well until the seventh inning when Paige loped in with runners on second and third and two out. Paige cut down the A's hopes by fanning Joe Astroth.

Paige blanked the Athletics in the last two innings on one hit while adding two more strike outs.

Solly's Home Run, Triple Pace Cards' 5-1 Win Over Bums

Brooklyn, May 14.—(P)—Shortstop Solly Hemus hammered home three tallies with a home run and triple today to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 victory and a split of the two-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hemus and third baseman Billy Johnson also performed brilliantly on defense as righthander Gerry Staley handcuffed the Dodgers with six hits to record his sixth triumph, half of the total victories of his club. He has lost once.

A home run by Andy Pafko in the fifth inning produced the Dodgers' lone tally. Brooklyn never got more than one man on base in any other inning.

Minor League Pitcher Sets New Strikeout Record

Bristol, Tenn.-Va., May 14.—(P)—A new strikeout record for organized baseball apparently has been set by 19-year-old Ron Neccia of the Appalachian league's Bristol Twins.

The 6-foot-5 fireballer, a Pittsburgh Pirate farmhand from Monongahela, Pa., fanned 27 batters in nine innings and pitched the Twins to a 7-0 no-hit win over the Welch, W. Va., miners here last night.

Statistics at Columbus, O., St. Louis and Pittsburgh rifled through all available records today but could find nothing to equal Neccia's feat.

The top mark found was hung up by hooks Iott who struck out 25 in a nine-inning game for Paragould, Ark., June 18, 1941.

In only one inning did Neccia fail to strike out the side—the second when a batter grounded out to the shortstop.

RODRIGUEZ MISSES 1ST GAME

Chicago, May 14.—(P)—Hector Rodriguez, sensational rookie third baseman for the Chicago White Sox, missed his first game of the season today with a pulled leg muscle.

Three Jacksonville high school athletes, Ron Kemp, Ron Campbell and Bill Williams, visited the University of Louisville campus in Kentucky, recently. The three were noncommittal on their return but some believe that the big three of Crimsons athletics may go south for next winter.

Frosty England, former local coach, is reported to be very interested in Kemp's gridiron prowess. He's now head football coach at Arkansas State, if you didn't know.

Bradley University is another school seeking local talent. "The wheel of fortune." Grab ahold, boys!

The junior Olympics, sponsored by the Jaycees and held on the northside cinderpath yesterday afternoon, were a tremendous success. Over 300 kids greeted Jaycee officials with a war whoop at 4 p.m. yesterday and they were still whooping it up at 6:30. The officials looked more "beat" than did the kids.

Final tabulations were still not available last night. Chairman Bob Elazier is keeper of the keys and was still figuring who won what, and why.

Local bowlers are getting traveling. Several men's teams are making the junket to the A.B.C. in Milwaukee and the women's are going to the national meet in St. Louis this weekend.

See where Ezzard Charles has a new sparring partner—one Kid Rivera of St. Louis. Wonder if the Browns have exiled their outfielder Jim to the square circle? No, it couldn't be. He got a hit last night. He'd get lots more hits if he were Charles' battering pard.

Dirtyest crack of the week was made by a White Sox fan. We quote: "Heard that Veck was going to trade Rivera to the Cardinals so he could do time for Fred Saigh." Get it?

Russ Meyer wins, Phillies bump Bruins 9-2

Philadelphia, May 14.—(P)—Russ Meyer dodged the hard luck that trailed him in four previous defeats to win his first game of the season today as the right-hander hurled the Philadelphia Phillies to a 9-2 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Meyer was hit harder than in any of his losing chores but managed to scatter 11 Chicago hits as the surging Phillies won their fourth in the last five games. Shortstop Granny Hamner and third baseman Willie Jones led Philadelphia attack on four Chicago pitchers.

Minor League Pitcher Sets New Strikeout Record

Bristol, Tenn.-Va., May 14.—(P)—A new strikeout record for organized baseball apparently has been set by 19-year-old Ron Neccia of the Appalachian league's Bristol Twins.

The 6-foot-5 fireballer, a Pittsburgh Pirate farmhand from Monongahela, Pa., fanned 27 batters in nine innings and pitched the Twins to a 7-0 no-hit win over the Welch, W. Va., miners here last night.

Statistics at Columbus, O., St. Louis and Pittsburgh rifled through all available records today but could find nothing to equal Neccia's feat.

The top mark found was hung up by hooks Iott who struck out 25 in a nine-inning game for Paragould, Ark., June 18, 1941.

In only one inning did Neccia fail to strike out the side—the second when a batter grounded out to the shortstop.

RODRIGUEZ MISSES 1ST GAME

Chicago, May 14.—(P)—Hector Rodriguez, sensational rookie third baseman for the Chicago White Sox, missed his first game of the season today with a pulled leg muscle.

Rodriguez, tied with Eddie Robinson for the club's batting lead with .330, was hurt last night as the White Sox blanked the Boston Red Sox 5-0.

JACKIE HAS SECOND SON

New York, May 14.—(P)—Mrs. Jackie Robinson today presented the Brooklyn Dodgers' second baseman with a second son. They also have a daughter.

The baby, who has not been named, was born at Flower hospital.

West Virginia University fielded its first basketball team in 1904. Since that time the Mountaineers have won 492 games and lost 435.

The Michigan State tennis team won the Western Conference (Big Ten) championship last year, its first in conference play

The Jacksonville high school Crimsons had to fend off a determined Taylorville team in the seventh inning to grab a 5-4 diamond decision here yesterday afternoon in the finals of the local sub-district baseball tournament.

By winning here, Coach Bob Kraushaar's Jacks won the right to meet Taylorville, a surprise winner over Cathedral at Springfield last night, in the district playoff at Lanphier park Friday night.

Franklin scored first in the ball game. Cecil Smith, the first man up, singled, advanced to second on a pass then scored on two infield grounders.

But local fans had cause for joy in the second inning when Jacksonville hitters teed off on smooth-working Darrel Strubbe for four hits and scored all five Crimsons tallies of the ball game.

The big inning featured doubles by Bill Williams, Johnny Walker and Jim Beck and a single by Don Hazelrigg. Strubbe also gave one of his two free passes in the ball game to contribute vitally to his defeat.

Kenny Wright, who pitched good ball for the Jacks but lacked control at times, gave up another run in the third inning when he allowed two singles after hitting the lead off batter.

Both Wright and Strubbe were untouchable in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Wright tired in the top half of the seventh. Flynn, Franklin's lead off hitter, singled. Wright struck out a batter, then Smith doubled, scoring Flynn. Seconds later Hem-brough lashed out a single and Smith scored.

Jacksonville will practice under the Nichols Park lights at 8:30 tonight.

The Crimsons now boast an 11-1 record.

New York Area Site Of First Big Golf Meet

New Rochelle, N. Y., May 14—(P)—Sixteen of the world's best golfers and the tournament that doesn't necessarily go to the lowest scorer will give New York's huge metropolitan area its one annual look at big time tournament golf this weekend.

The tournament is the $15,000 round-robin invitation, a five-round, 90-hole affair scored on a point basis for each round. It will be played for the fifth straight year at the Wykagyl Club, starting tomorrow afternoon and winding up Sunday. Two rounds will be played Friday, one on each of the other days.

The select field of 16 is topped by Sam Snead, the American P.G.A. champion; Max Faulkner, the British open champion; and Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, last year's winner and champion of South America.

Ben Hogan is about the only big-name American golfer missing. The scoring system makes the tournament unique, seatters spectators all over the course and keeps the result in doubt right to the end.

The field is broken into four foursomes each day and partners are changed so that each player hooks up with all the others before the finish. Points are awarded on a plus or minus basis comparing the player's score with those of the other members of his foursome.

Thus a player can shoot a par round and wind up with a minus score for the day if his opponents also are playing well, or he can pick up a lot of points if it is matched against an 80.

Good Golf's Easy

Practice With Club You Are Playing Poorest, Says Burke

By JACKIE BURKE
Golf's Newest Star

After a golfer has acquired the proper grip and developed a sound swing, the rest is pretty much up to him.

He must practice and play a lot. The rest will come naturally. Ability, strength and mentality being equal, the player who practices most will be best.

Common sense tells you to practice with the club you are playing poorest.

When a playing professional's swing is out of the groove, he heads for the nearest practice tee.

Then, if he isn't satisfied, he consults a fellow professional.

Teachers will tell you that 75 per cent of the time they straighten out pupils by correcting a faulty grip.

When you get a chance to watch professional golfers in action, pay particular attention to their hands. Faulty hand action is the cause of many a scoring error.

So to correct a faulty stroke, start with the hands. If the hands and forearms are properly coordinated, the hips, shoulders and pivot will follow. If they do their work properly, timing must be correct.

Try an easy, relaxed practice pivot. If you feel free and at ease, you probably have the proper stance and balance.

The power of the stroke generates at the feet. It passes on through the body to the hands. Therefore the stance is vital.

Once convinced the hands and forearms are not the source of the difficulty, check your stance, then the pivot. Be sure the right hip has sufficient body turn. Be certain to get well around on the backswing.

Starting the downswing, let the weight move with it, from the right foot onto the left.

Don't try to hit too quickly from the top of the downswing. Don't hurry any part of the swing.

Check back to the hands again as they come into the ball, then the follow through.

While the use of the hands and forearms are the first fundamentals, the hips and shoulders cannot be neglected. They must turn at least enough to take them out of the way of the hands and forearms. There cannot be any obstruction to the smooth, flowing swing of the forearms.

Practically every golfer finds it necessary to make changes in the mechanics of his game, but, above all things, don't experiment. If your stroke is sound, don't radically change your grip, stance or backswing. If these elements were sound before your headache, they must still be okay after you find yourself off your game.

Possibly you are gripping the club too hard with the right hand. Maybe one hand is in a bad position. Perhaps you are coming back too rapidly, or out of the groove.

Break down your stroke one factor at a time.

Do not attempt to make several corrections at once.

If you do, you'll wind up with a stroke that will get you nowhere in a hurry.

Practice hitting balls out of poor, fair and bad lies.

Learn how to get out of traps. In putting practice, start a foot or so from the hole and gradually work back to 15 feet. Concentrate on the stroke. Keep the blade as low as possible going back, the face of the putter always square to the hole.

If you want to get all the kick golf offers, you must practice, study the game and seek competition.

CORN SHOWS LITTLE STRENGTH ON BOARD

Chicago, May 14—(P)—Corn showed a little strength at times on the board of trade today but the rest of the market was not able to go ahead.

May rice fell several cents at times in a reaction from its sharp advance of the past few days.

An improvement in the corn-hog feeding ration, which will make it profitable to feed corn to hogs, seemed to be the main reason for the better showing of that cereal.

New crop wheat deliveries declined on excellent crop prospects.

Preliminary estimated receipts of grain in carlots: wheat 5, corn 93, oats 30, rye none, barley 11 and soybeans 34.

Wheat closed 1-1/2 lower, May $2.44 1/2; corn 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, May $1.83 1/2; oats 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, May 77 1/2; soybeans 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, May 2.98 1/2; rye 1-1/4 lower, May $1.99 1/2; and land unchanged to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $11.20.

BOY 13, GOES A.W.O.L. TO SEE REAL GENERAL

Washington, May 13—(P)—A 13-year-old New York boy, who ran away from home to see a real live general put on a fine military show today.

Proudly erect, with a rifle (wooden) over his shoulder, John Arzomian paraded in full field equipment including bayonet, dagger, canteen, mess kit, knapsack and GI uniform.

But to John's sorrow, the only spectators were cops and cameramen.

He got to Washington. But just as he was set for a triumphant march across the Potomac river to the Pentagon in nearby Virginia, the cops intercepted him at the bus station and led him off to detention barracks. He had $141 cash in his pockets.

John hasn't seen a general. He is being held by juvenile authorities.

But the boy convinced police, at least, that he's got the soldierly spirit.

When Police Pvt. J. J. McDermott picked him up at the bus station, by request from back home, he told John he'd have to go to headquarters.

John squared his shoulders. "I'll go," he said, "if you'll let me march like a soldier."

That's the way it was. John shouldered his rifle and marched the 10 blocks to police H.Q. Pvt. McDermott hoofed it alongside.
